CIVIC LEAGUE MEETS MONDAY AFTERNOON

ORGANIZATION NOW HAS TWO HUNDRED AND FORTY MEMBERS.

MUCH WORK PLANNED

Interesting Reports Will Be Made on Developments of Past Winter and Summer Projects.

On Monday afternoon next the Civic League will meet at the City Hall at three o'clock. As this is the season of the year when many plans are discussed for summer work it is expected there will be a good sized attendance as there are many interesting reports to be made.

One of the important branches of work to be taken up is that of the Junior Civic League recently organized, that has for its motto "Save the Fly!" There will also be a report of Dr. Graham Taylor's lecture and of the civic council which has been arranged for. The semi-annual dues of twenty-five cents are now due and members are requested to either bring or send the money to the meeting on Monday. The league now has two hundred and forty members, the following ladies' names being on the secretary's list:

INSPIRING RECITAL

BY BASSO SOLOIST

G. Magnus Schütz Displays His Artistic Abilities at MacDowell Club Concert.

Those who attended the MacDowell club recital last evening at Library Hall enjoyed one of the real musical events of the season. G. Magnus Schütz, a basso singer of Chicago, gave the entire program of four groups of songs, consisting of fifteen selections, in a most delightful manner. Mr. Schütz has a splendid voice; his range is remarkable and the quality of tone superb. His interpretation of each number was very interesting and pleasing, from the heavy selections of Mendelssohn to the tender songs of MacDowell. Aside from the regular program Mr. Schütz was called upon to give several well selected encores. Mrs. J. L. Wilcox, president of the MacDowell club, played the piano accompaniments charmingly and the club is to be congratulated upon bringing so enjoyable an offering to Janesville. The program follows:

RECORDER FILES AT THE CITY LIBRARY

Have Been Placed There for Convenience of the General Public for Reference.

At the time of the purchase of the Janesville Recorder by the Gazette Printing company, the old files of that paper were sent to the city library. It being thought that they would be more available there than any reference that if stored elsewhere. These bound volumes are the property of the Gazette and have been loaned to the city library and a complete list has just been completed and is published below.

The files of the Janesville Gazette for its first issue in 1845, are on file in the library room at the Gazette office and are also open to the public for use, many availing themselves of the opportunity to consult them. The Gazette also wishes it understood that this library room is open to the general public for such gatherings, committee meetings and that requests for its use can be made of the management for the same. The following is the list of the recorder publications now on the shelves at the city library.

DENIES NEW TRIAL IN GOEBEL'S CASE

Judge Grimm Grants Motion for Judgment on Verdict in Favor of Janesville Clergyman.

Judge George Grimm denied a motion for a new trial made by Attorney H. S. Nolan for the Janesville Traction company, in the personal injury damage suit in which Father W. Grimm was the plaintiff. Judge Grimm granted the motion of Attorney E. H. Ryan, counsel for the plaintiff, for judgment in accordance with the jury's verdict, which awarded Father Goebel $550. Other matters taken up today at the session of the circuit court involved mortgage foreclosure actions. Judge Grimm will be at the local court next week, beginning Monday afternoon.

MINISTERS ENLISTED FOR SPRING CLEAN-UP

Civic Committee of Commercial Club Confers With Council for Plans for Spring Clean-Up.

Members of the civic committee of the Janesville Commercial club and others interested in making plans for the annual spring clean-up day in Janesville, met with the city council yesterday afternoon for making plans for a thorough and systematic attack on the unsanitary and unsightly spots of Janesville.

This year the pastors have been enlisted in the work, and after a campaign to arouse civic pride, tickets will be distributed through the Sunday schools and the purchasers of the tickets will have the privilege to have his collection of rubbish, tins cans that have collected during the winter and deposited in the dump piles. The date for this clean-up will probably be set when Governor McGovern sets the state day for fire prevention work. Teams will be hired and each purchaser will be given a placard with instructions on how to collect the rubbish and by placing the card in a conspicuous place, the attention of the teamsters will be attracted on the trips through the wards.

The civic club has been one of the first to become interested in the work, and will co-operate with the city officials, and others who are forwarding the movement and are considering means to provide the school children with garden and flower seeds to plant to take the place of ash and tin can piles. The past year will make announcement to their congregations of their plans for the twenty-sixth, which is "Go to Church" Sunday in Janesville.

Another meeting will be held within a short time to perfect further means of extending the work to the citizens and it is expected other leagues interested in the plans will be present to formulate final regulations.

When fire prevention day is set Mayor James A. Fathers will, as in the past, issue a proclamation setting aside the day for the cleaning up to make Janesville a spotless town. At yesterday's meeting Dr. Buckmaster and Charles Lane, secretary of the Commercial Club, were appointed as a committee to arrange for the hiring of the teams.

OBITUARY

John Godfrey. Funeral services for John Godfrey will be held at the St. Luke's church at Whitewater, Saturday morning at ten o'clock. The remains arrived in Whitewater today.

Life-Giving Properties of Colors.

Experiments show that the order of colors ranked as to their life-giving properties will be: blue, violet, yellow, red and green. Thus, if a patient is put in a hospital where green predominates he has a far slimmer chance of speedy recovery than if he were comfortably fixed in a blue room.

IROQUOIS WIN TITLE FOR Y. M. C. A. MATCH

Bowling Draws to a Close After An Interesting Season—Past Season Game Possible.

Another shake-up in the percentages of the teams in the Y. M. C. A. bowling league leaves the Iroquois at the top of the list, the Maroons and Giants tied for second, and the Cardinals in last place. Wednesday evening the Maroons were defeated by the Iroquois by a small margin of fourteen pins, while last evening the Giants won from the Cardinals by a margin of more than one hundred and fifty. This finishes the season although the Maroons and the Giants may roll off the tie for second place. The scores for the matches of the past two nights are:

NEIGHBORS' INDEPENDENTS DEFEAT MERRICK'S SQUAD

Merrick and his aggregation of semi-pros went down in a close defeat in their battle royal with Neighbors' Independents at Miller's last night, the winner copping the match with a scant margin of nineteen points.

In the first lap the Independents put across a lead of fifty-five points, which proved handy when the final checking was made. The semi-pros took the next two games, the second by thirty-four points and the last by two pins, but the fifty-five rally at the start kept them off the winning column. Tonight the Miller's five will meet the Betoit Colts, who are seeking revenge for the trimming the Janesville five gave them when they crossed bats the last time at Betoit. Summary:

Sport Snap Shots

Gilmore, the Fed president, pulls down $15,000 a year. These figures were published recently for the first time. Dan Johnson gets the best wages of all league presidents, his being $25,000. Tener is not being paid for his services at present, but when his term as governor of Pennsylvania expires he will be paid $29,000 by the National league. Considering the youth of the Federal league, Gilmore may feel that he is doing very well indeed.

Mordecai Brown is believed by a good many to be about the same age as Christy Mathewson and to have been in the game about the same length of time. This, however, is hardly the case. Brown is four years older, altho Matty has been in many more battles than the miner. Matty made his debut into the big show in 1901 while Brown appeared at the beginning of the season of 1903. Matty started out when he was twenty-one, while Miner Brown was at least twenty-seven when he escaped from the bush. So it will be seen that Brown was older when he first started in fast company than Walter Johnson is today. Brown recently made the declaration that he was sure he would be able to take part in at least forty-five hot little games this summer and all of his friends and boosters are hoping that he'll turn the trick.

Jess Willard has many of the traits and endowments of a sure-enough prize fighter. He handles himself while in action in a pleasing and deft manner and a good rear elevation of his physique reminds one somewhat of a firelight car when viewed close at hand. But the pres-

MORE SPEED AND GREATER AGILITY WITH ALL HIS STRENGTH AND VIGOR WOULD MAKE A FORMIDABLE SCRAPPER OF JESS WILLARD.

Tommy Gavigan will yet be an item in the settlement of the middle-weight crown. Since his European tour he has shown remarkable improvement, having picked up a great deal of speed. George Chip has trounced him twice, but Gavigan is determined to meet the miner again and get a different decision.

THE INDIVIDUALITY AND CHARM of MODART Front Lace Corsets

Should make a personal appeal to every woman who seeks these very features in her spring corset. You will be impressed with the beauty of MODART lines as each model has a style expression all its own. And note, too, there is abundance of comfort as well.

A fitting by our corsetiere will demonstrate the comfort, the ease, the grace, the superiority of Modart Corsets. We invite your approval.

Model J 440 $5.00. An Athletic model—ideal for young ladies who ride, play tennis, golf, etc. Extremely low, allowing plenty of freedom across the diaphragm.

Model T 641 $3.50. The unusual value in this corset is instantly apparent. Has low bust, good length to skirt and regular MODART boning, and soft-top clasps throughout.

safety. With the existing colonies or dependencies of any European power we have not interfered and shall not interfere. But with the governments who have declared their independence and maintain it, and whose independence we have on great consideration and on just principles acknowledged, we could not but view any interference for the purpose of oppressing them or controlling in any other manner their destiny, by any European power in any other light than an unfriendly disposition toward the United States.

It was not a diplomatic statement. It was the language that is backed by force of arms and since it was proclaimed the United States has had the opportunity several times to show the grim teeth of the dogs of war before absolutely convincing the foreign powers it meant business. It has been shirt sleeve diplomacy. It may have been astute statesmanship, but nevertheless Uncle Sam has stood guard over the western hemisphere since 1823 and no one needs to believe in the passage of the repeal to the Panama canal toll measure is going to reduce that guardianship one jot or tittle.

THE WATERWORKS.

The supreme court of the state of Wisconsin has decided that the citizens of Janesville did not vote properly on the question of securing the property of the Janesville Water company at the election held in April of 1912. This much-mooted question was brought to the attention of the voters at that time by a resolution of the then common council. They voted it to be put to a vote of the people. The council advanced its adoption and the purchase of the plant in question. The margin was small but the men in favor of the purchase carried their point. At the same election the commission form of government was installed. Then began a fight on the part of the water company against the consummation of the purchase. It has taken two years to decide the point at issue—namely, that the citizens of Janesville did not vote to purchase the Water company's plant, but merely the water company, and that there was not sufficient legal notification of the election published.

During the recent recall struggle the question of the ownership of the water works was one of the arguments of the recall element for the purpose of turning out the present city officials. Meanwhile the legal action for its purchase went ahead and today we stand where we stood two years ago, minus the water works and all the work to do over again. The election was illegal and in order to purchase the property the voters must go to the polls again and express their choice. Mayor Fathers states he will bring the matter up for a vote of the council as soon as the new council is organized and that Goodman takes his seat. This will be some time in May. This time, the question will be properly presented to the voters and proper legal notification of the election will be given. If they decide to purchase it, well and good, then the city officials will proceed at once to complete the deal. If not, it is ended for the present.

The Gazette has already maintained that the city has about as much use for the Janesville Water company's plant as a dog has for two tails. Really it has even less now than it did two years ago, for the plant is two years older and it taken over by the city will mean the expenditure of thousands of dollars for repairs, new apparatus and new water mains which will soon wear out. The city can not afford to burden itself with this useless expenditure and the vote when the question is brought up again should be as strongly against it as it was in favor of it two years ago. It will not mean a saving to the citizens, except perhaps to a few consumers, but really a burden to the taxpayers. We are now crying about increased taxes in the state. Why burden ourselves with more just at this time?

There is no criticism of the city officials planning to submit it to a vote of the people that is proper. They voted on the question once and voted in favor of it and should be given another opportunity of expressing their view on the question. But it is to be hoped they will vote "no" on the question when it is submitted.

McGovern received cold comfort from the resolutions passed by the various farmers in the recent election relative to calling a special session of the legislature. The idea of making a goal of the farmer has passed beyond the joke stage with the average residents in the rural districts when politics are talked of. They are doing a lot of thinking for themselves this spring and not forgetting the fact they paid mighty big taxes this year and will have to do so again next year without a special session of the legislature to increase them.

Already the detractors of Congressman H. A. Cooper are busy. They would paint him in the colors of a traitor to his party, to his constituents without waiting to discover just what the status of his vote on various questions of national importance really meant. The Panama canal toll bill was passed without Cooper's vote and perhaps he acted more wisely than the men who criticize him think when one considers this democratic, boss-ridden state of affairs that exist in Wisconsin.

When they stop to consider it all in all the advocates of the wets see that the trend of general opinion is in favor of no-license, and if they are wise they will shape their course so that the usual complaint against the traffic can not be brought as an issue very soon again.

The get-together spirit is evidenced on all sides. A few soreheads still harbor extravagant ideas, but taking it all in all the general feeling that Janesville is a pretty good town after all is shown on all sides.

The police have made a glorious start on cleaning up the city of a lot of undesirables and it is to be hoped they will continue in their work of reform. There is need of it.

But They Know Him.

When a man makes a fool of himself he is terribly surprised, and he can't understand why all the rest of the world isn't.

AMONG WISCONSIN NEWSPAPERS

In Terms of the Jungle. The Marion Drake-Bathhouse John scribbled for the first ward alderman in Chicago was like a contest between a hummingbird and a hippopotamus.—Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin.

A Means of Convincing. The high tax humorists, in reducing, of course cut off the most necessary things. This is to convince people. The unnecessary continue just the same.—Racine Journal News.

The Socialists Perhaps. The democrats are the only real patriots.—Milwaukee. Now some mean paragrapher will want to know who put the riots in patriots.—Eau Claire Leader.

After the Latest Mode. And now Gov. McGovern applies the popular policy of "watchful waiting" to the matter of his answering the petition for calling a special session of the legislature.—Appleton Post.

Suffrage and Prohibition. As a result of the widespread "wet" and "dry" campaign waged in Illinois this year, it appears that the "drys" have managed to gain considerable new territory. It is estimated that about 1,000 saloons will be driven out of business in that state, and prohibitionists declare this is only the start. To the women voters is given much of the credit for this sweeping victory, it being claimed that the women vote went largely for no license. Which of course will be used by the suffragists as an argument for the extension of suffrage, and no less strongly urged by the "anties" as an argument why the women should not be privileged to mix in politics.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

Their Limit Reached. Milwaukee socialists can take consolation in the fact that it requires a fusion of republicans and democrats to defeat them. But they cannot complain when the other two parties combine against them, for they themselves do not recognize any real distinction between republicans and democrats. The total vote indicates that socialist population in Milwaukee of from 150,000 to 200,000. It is very large. But socialism seems by this time to have gathered up itself all the Milwaukee elements in which it can hope to find favor. Its growth, except as this may come about through the growth of the city is shown by comparison of returns of several recent elections to be over.—La Crosse Leader Press.

On the Spur of the Moment

Whiskers. (New York scientist gives statistics to prove that long flowing whiskers have almost passed out of existence.)

I am the flowing whisker that decorates the chin. They say that I am passe. They tell me I'm all in. They say my days are numbered; that I am of no use. Except to catch microbes and some tobacco juice.

They say I am a relic of ancient by-gone days. That I've become an eyesore, for sure in various ways. But I recall the era when I was quite the rage. And every fellow wore me, regard less of his age.

Then I was omnipresent, I dangled in the soup. I trailed through restaurant butter and no one cared a whoop. You were sure to see me, no matter where you went.

And you would find me hanging on every president.

Remember Roscoe Conkling? He was a friend of mine. And Grant and Hayes and Garfield? On them I sure looked fine. And old Count Leo Tolstoy and Uncle Peffer, too. Certainly some famous for whiskers that they grew.

Upon the classic profile of old Jay Gould I hung. I also decorated the face of Brigham Young. To William Cullen Bryant I clung with might and main. You also will remember me hanging on Jim Blaine.

They say I'm in the garbage; they say I am passe; That I have served my purpose; that I have seen my day. But still, in spite of warnings, it's Use Hyomei—it gives quick relief. Best Remedy for Head Colds, Bronchitis or Catarrh.

When your head is stuffed up from a cold or catarrh, causing you to suffer with dull headaches, watery eyes, constant sniffing, spasmodic coughing, or an itching and burning sensation in the nostrils, you need a remedy that will give you the quickest and most effective relief possible—something that will go right to the spot and immediately clear the head and end your suffering.

Use Hyomei—it is just such a remedy—a treatment that is harmless, pleasant to use, and leaves no disagreeable after effects. No roundabout method of stomach dosing. Simply pour a few drops of Hyomei into the inhaler that comes with every complete outfit—which can be had from any drug store—and breathe it. You will immediately feel its healing and health-restoring effect.

The antiseptic and germicidal oils that constitute Hyomei mix with the air you breathe so that this healing giving medication goes directly to the sore and inflamed mucous membranes lining the nose, throat and bronchial tubes—all irritation is quickly stopped, the congestion relieved and the delicate tissues healed and vitalized. You will feel better at once.

Smith Drug Co. sells Hyomei with agreement to refund the purchase price if you are not satisfied. This should be convincing proof that Hyomei is a dependable remedy. Ask for the complete outfit, $1.00 size.

LIGGETT'S CHOCOLATES

Because Liggett's is superior—even to the smallest detail.

The big candy factories in which Liggett's Chocolates are made belong to more than 7,000 Rexall Druggists in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

This co-operation in ownership, carrying with it, of course, co-operation in selling, assured tremendous weekly sales from the very start.

It made it possible to buy raw materials on an immense scale, and thus get the very best qualities of cocoa, nuts, fruits and flavors at lowest prices.

With these advantages, and an organization of expert confectioners, each an artist in his line, an equipment of the finest chocolate grinding and mixing machinery made in this country and Germany, and scrupulous attention to purity and cleanliness in every process of manufacture, you can easily understand why Liggett's Chocolates are preferred by those who want the best.

Liggett's Chocolates come in richly artistic and beautiful ribbon-tied boxes of various designs and shapes, evidencing even before you open one, the exquisite care and cleanliness which is an invariable rule in Liggett's.

CITY COUNCIL MAKES CANVASS OF RETURNS

OFFICIAL FIGURES SHOW GOOD MAN'S MAJORITY TO BE 341—LICENSE VOTE 601.

ACCEPT CITY REPORTS

Street Work Ordered on Racine Street and Oak Hill Avenue—Trans.

for Liquor License.

Results of the canvass of the election returns by the city council yesterday afternoon show that Peter J. Goodman received a majority of 341 over C. K. Milmore, the total vote for Goodman being 1712 and Milmore's 1371. The official count on the license issue shows that the license forces carried the city with a majority of 601 votes. In the school commissioner contest, J. T. Hooper had a majority of 799 over Arthur M. Fisher.

In the judicial election in the city Judge Max Lange received a total of 1471, Carpenter, 95 and Lange, 730. The final table accepted by the official was the following:

Municipal Election
Goodman Milmore	Total
1st ward	321	301
2nd ward	259	226
3rd ward	328	295
4th ward	493	306
5th ward	313	143
Totals	1712	1371
Majority	341

Judicial Election

Max Lange Carpen Total

Field	1st	2nd	3rd	4th	5th
1st ward	844	127	182	492
2nd ward	221	90	181	492
3rd ward	268	209	278	755

5th ward	257	109	85	451
Totals	1471	730	895	3096

The official returns show practically no difference from the figures compiled by the Gazette on Tuesday night.

Council Proceedings.

Business of a routine nature was brought before the council at yesterday's meeting which was adjourned from Tuesday to canvas the returns.

Reports were received, accepted and filed from the Police department, Municipal court, Board of Education, Dr. S. B. Buckmaster, city health officer, and the City Treasurer.

Orders for the salaries for inspectors and clerks at the city election, amounting to $355, was allowed. There were seven employed in each ward and each received five dollars for their services. The commissioners allowed the transfer of the liquor license issued to James Sheridan at 18 South River street to John Regan. The plumbing bonds of McVicar Brothers was allowed to canvass the returns.

Chapter 25 of the revised ordinance for a period of one year.

The report of the police department show that during the month of March there were sixty-three arrests made. Thirty-eight cases being brought into court and twenty-five being dismissed from the Chief of Police's office. Forty-eight of the arrests were for drunkenness and five for vagrancy. The report of the municipal court shows that the total amount of court fines, penalties paid over to the city and county treasury during the preceding month was only $18.55. Only ten dollars was listed under the fines imposed, all those brought before the court except one, taking the sentence under the commitment.

The monthly report of Dr. S. B. Buckmaster, city health officer, stated that during the month there were 22 deaths, 23 births, two accidents and only five cases of quarantine diseases in the city. Two being for small pox, the victims being cared for at the detention hospital, and the others for measles, scarlet fever and typhoid fever. Fifteen cases of tuberculosis were listed. Attention was paid to the importance of the spring clean-up and establishing of a garbage disposal system of some form.

Reports of the Board of Education and City Treasurer George Munchow were accepted and placed on file.

The superintendent of streets was instructed to repair with gravel Racine street east of Logan, also Oak Hill Avenue south of State street. D. E. Eickhoff was appointed as special police officer until March 15th during the absence of Fred Albright who was granted a short leave of absence.

Having purchased the stock of wines and liquors and interest of James Sheridan, 18 South River street, I wish to state that I will keep in stock the same high grade liquors kept by Mr. Sheridan and will conduct the place in a businesslike manner as it has been in the past. John Regan.

PRESENTED COMEDY

"THE RECKONING"

Iduna Ladies' Lyceum of Milton Ably Entertain Audience—Cast Was Unusually Large One.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton, April 10.—The Iduna Ladies' Lyceum presented the musical comedy, "The Reckoning," at the gym last evening, before a delighted audience, and curtain calls were both frequent and insistent. After the curtain fell the "Palm Garden" and the "Bryan Punch" bar and candy bazaar were a feature.

Synopsis.

ACT I—SCENE I.
Dan, Nan and Sister Irene go to school. Dotty follows her but is reproved by her older sisters. They have her crying. Wag appears, introduces the Kewpie band and takes Dotty to school.

SCENE II.
A park. Mr. and Mrs. Dismal Grump take their children for a walk. They scold their children severely and the poor children weep. The Kewpies again come to the rescue and jolly up the Grump family.

SCENE III.
Darling's kitchen. Mrs. Jane McBride calls on Mother Darling who consoles the family troubles to her. The Darling children tease the Orphan Boy. The Kewpies appear and for punishment they send Dan, Nan and Sister Irene to Mrs. Grimes to work as orphans.

ACT II—SCENE I.
Darling's kitchen. Kewpies decide to reform Brother Dan, Sister Nan and Sister Irene by acting like them and it is accomplished.

ACT III—SCENE II.
Darling's kitchen. Darlings at supper.

SAFETY WORK SHOWS
DECREASE IN DEATHS

Urging Caution Results in Lessening Possibilities for Danger.

All over the country large corporations are taking a definite stand for prevention of injuries to their employees. The most notable agitation comes from the organization of the "Safety First" committees on the railroads. The Chicago and Northwestern has issued bulletins which bring out some of the more important phases of this work. "Safety first" stands for conservation of human life, elimination of chance-takers who are makers of cripples, widows and orphans, for safety men as well as things, greater irregularity. In forty-four months on the Chicago and Northwestern this movement resulted in the lessening of the number of deaths by 278 and the lessening of the number of injuries by 9,103. About seventy-five other railroads have followed the example of the Chicago and Northwestern with a great increase in the efficiency and reduction in fatalities. Men can be educated to realize carelessness is essential to safety. Besides the mere fact of making the work more safe, the spirit of co-operation that is injected into this movement results in a greater harmony among the employees in all classes of work. All of the employees are urged to use care in all of their work. Foremen should see that dangerous machines are guarded, carmen are instructed not to throw boards with nails or sharp pieces of iron on the ground, brakemen and switchmen are cautioned against allowing cars to stand so near sidings that clearance is difficult, machinists are urged to use goggles. Every possibility of danger is brought to the attention of the employees and they are urged to take no unnecessary chances.

MOLLY MEETS SOME CELEBRITIES.

THE Author-Man and his wife were making their annual two months stay in the heart of the Big City.

The Lady who-always-knows-somehow had received a letter from the Author-Man's wife and was reading it aloud to Molly.

Molly listened big eyed. When the Lady had finished and folded up the letter, Molly sat staring thoughtfully into the fire, frowning a bit. "I like to go to the theatre and have some of the lovely things," she said, "but the thing I envy them the most is meeting those people. Just think how wonderful it must be to hear real live authors talk. Imagine going to dinner with a dozen authors and artists as they did the other night. It must be so stimulating."

When I think of it, it makes me wild to realize that I'll probably stagnate here all my life and die without ever meeting people like that."

The Lady who-always-knows-somehow looked thoughtful. "I wish you might," she said, "and yet—well Molly, which would you rather meet, the people they are meeting or Ralph Waldo Emerson?"

"Why you know I'd rather have met Emerson than anyone in the world," said Molly. Her grandfather had been one of Emerson's neighbors and Molly had listened to stories of the great philosopher from her babyhood.

The Lady who-always-knows-somehow got up from her chair and went to the bookcase. "Well here he is," she said, "the very best of him; the sayings he wanted preserved; the thoughts he considered worth writing down and keeping. And do you suppose the Author-Man has met anyone more interesting and stimulating than Thoreau? Well here's some of the best of him, too."

The Lady laid two volumes on the table and reached into the bookcase for a third. Of course you've heard about the famous circle of wits and authors and critics and actors that gathered about Johnson's table. And here it is right in this room with all the original flavor preserved for you by a man who had a genius for doing just that."

The third volume was Boswell's Johnson. "There, that's just as it was," said the Lady, coming back to her chair. "Of the stimulating people you meet any time you want. You see, Molly, she went on, "I used to feel the way you do about meeting real people and being afraid I'd stagnate if I didn't. Then I got to thinking about it and I realized that after all I could meet the best part of them. Don't you know that people who write almost always put the best of themselves into their books? The Author-Man says they seldom talk well and are usually disappointing to meet. What they write they have thought out and polished off. They haven't done that with what they say. So after all we get the best of them."

Molly picked up Thoreau and turned to his spirited and amusing defense of his views. The Lady looked over her shoulder. "Do you imagine he ever said anything better than that to his friends?" she asked. "The Author-Man said Molly, enthusiastically, "I don't. And I don't believe even the greatest author was ever so wise and stimulating as you. And the Lady laughed.

VALUABLE NUT DISHES.

An agreeable change from the hearty meats will be the combination of nuts with vegetables, making most appetizing dishes. When we get a little better acquainted with the food value of nuts there will be more use made of them.

Lima Beans With Nuts—Soak a cupful of lima beans in cold water over night. In the morning rinse well and slip off the skins, put in a bean pot with plenty of water, salt to season and a half cupful of nuts to a pint of the beans. Let cook until tender in a slow oven, a small piece of onion may be added to give flavor and other seasonings like mustard or a bit of molasses, if liked, may be added. The nuts, if ground, may be added just before taking up, stir in well and serve.

Nut Parsnip Stew—Wash, scrape and slice two good sized parsnips, cook until perfectly soft, in two quarts of water. When nearly done add a teaspoon of salt and two tablespoonfuls each of flour and butter mixed together, cook until smooth then add a cupful of chopped nut meats and serve.

Nut Hash—Chop fine cold boiled potatoes and other vegetables which are at hand, put into a hot buttered frying pan and heat quickly, season well and stir in just before taking up a half cupful of nut meal or chopped nuts.

Vegetable Roast—Take cooked beans or peas, pass through a colander to remove all skins, and mix with an equal quantity of finely chopped nut meats. Season to taste. Put one-half the mixture into a buttered baking dish, spread over it a dressing made of zwieback soaked in cream and seasoned with salt and sage. Cover this with the remainder of the nut mixture and, over all pour a cupful of cream. Bake one and a half hours and serve with cranberry sauce.

BANDEAU HATS ARE GENERAL FAVORITES

Tight Fitting Cape Coats Most Popular—Fashion Notes by Margaret Mason.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 10.—It's quite appropriate that a monocled lady should effect a bandeau hat, for it certainly causes a total eclipse of the right hand side of her countenance. The hat is a flat of total eclipse and is set at a perilous angle on a deep ribbon trimmed bandeau which sets on the left side of the head. Their flat tops are almost universally a garish, of exquisite blotchy and set in a fascinating model, glimpsed at the daintiest of black hem and undecorated save for the half of a tiny gold straw shepherdess basket filled with wee pink rose buds, forget-me-nots and violets set low on the face, concealing right edge. The bandeau disclosed a huge flat bow of black moire.

The side tilt is a general favorite of the bandeau hat, which has been launched last season is still popular with its slant straight up from the back.

The tendency to turn up on the side is not confined to the head by any means this season. A novelty dancing frock, of polonaise, doton or crin, almost scent the musk and old lavender that should be clinging to these old-time-to-date gowns.

Lovely woman is indeed all wrapped up in the old new cape wraps. Fitting tightly over the shoulders, the separate cape wraps out in front and flounces to their three quarter length, while many of the jackets to the smartest tailored suits show quaint little shoulder capes instead of collars. In fact, the erstwhile reg-

Women Worth While.

MRS. COLVILLE BARCLAY.

By Selene Armstrong Harmon. Mrs. Colville Barclay, the girl's wife of the counselor to the British embassy at Washington, is enjoying her first season in this country. Four years ago Mrs. Barclay, then Miss Ward, visited Washington as the guest of the present ambassador to Italy and Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page, but that was only for a fortnight. Last November she came to America again, this time with her husband and a six month old son, and with a view of making her home in Washington for an indefinite length of time. She has entered with zest into the social activities of the Washington season, and has made many friends among American women, as well as among the women of the diplomatic set.

Mrs. Barclay was born in London, and attended private school in England. As the daughter of Herbert Ward, the noted sculptor, however, she spent eight years of her childhood and early young womanhood in Paris, where her father has done his best work. There Mr. and Mrs. Ward have maintained a home which has been frequented by men and women who have attained eminence in painting, sculpture and the other arts of the most interesting in Paris. Mr. Herbert Ward, who belongs to the Legion d'honneur of France, has exhibited many groups at the Salon. Much of his work is now owned by the French government and is on exhibition in the Luxembourg.

Upon coming to Washington Mr. and Mrs. Barclay took a house in the fashionable residence district of the city, near Dupont circle. In the finishing of this residence the artistic ability which the latter has inherited from her father is evident at a glance. Rare and beautiful prints, water colors and statuary, quaint carved chests from Brittany, odd pewter vessels found by Mrs. Barclay in her travels in Bulgaria, and many other things of beauty and interest, all of the placed with rare taste, go to make the home one of the most attractive at the capital.

Though she has enjoyed to the fullest all that she has seen of social life in this country, Mrs. Barclay is domestic in her tastes. She is devoted to home life and gives most of her time to the care of her little son, who is now ten months old. The child is a handsome and robust boy, and bears his father's name.

ulation tailored coat collar is absolutely taboo. Aside from capes the Carquin collar and the Japanese are the most popular. The few hemless skirts of last winter have now become legion and a hem on a skirt nowadays practically stamps it as passe. Either the selarage of the goods is and in lieu of a hem or else the skirt is faced up with a lining of self-matching chiffon. Handkerchiefs also have taken to turning up noses at hems, at least hem-stitched ones and the smartest ones are now rolled and cross-stitched in colors or else button-hole stitched in pastel hues. Where they are hemmed it is done with a running stitch of colored thread. No matter how its edge is finished the crucial point about the 1914 hankery is that it must have tint to have tone. Either the soft square of linen itself must be colored or it must boast a hem, stitching or initials of tint.

Whether the new style of coiffure and the exposed ear are an outcome of the bandeau hat or the bandeau hat is an outcome of the hair dressing is a question, but both seem responsible for the sickle spit curl in front of each ear, that seductive beauty mark flicked from the daughters of Andalusia.

Like a feminized sideburn these fascinating flat curls, gummed well forward on each cheek, are infinitely more charming than the gobs of hair like our muffs, that hid the ears this winter and were pasted over almost half the cheek. With a beauty spot at the corner of your left eye and a sickle lock in front of each ear how can you possibly fail to look piquant?

You simply can't. A colloquial fashion that deserves universal adoption is the fad of San Francisco women for wearing a tiny conventional bouquet in a lace paper frill in place of an artificial corsage. With a round as center and alternating rows of forget-me-nots and violets set off with its quaint lace paper edge the effect is fragrant artistic and reminiscent of those olden golden days when minuet and romance reigned in lieu of tangoes and eugenics.

It was at the Paris home of Mrs. Barclay's parents that her wedding took place not quite three years ago. There, too, another daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ward was married to a young Englishman, Eric Phipps, who is now secretary to the British embassy at Madrid.

Like most English women, Mrs. Barclay is fond of out-of-door sports. In Paris horseback riding was her favorite recreation and she expects to resume it in Washington with the coming of spring. She also enjoys golf and tennis.

Upon coming to Washington Mr. and Mrs. Barclay took a house in the fashionable residence district of the city, near Dupont circle. In the finishing of this residence the artistic ability which the latter has inherited from her father is evident at a glance. ## THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Grease the bottoms of pots and kettles before putting over the coals and they will become black.

Paint the inside of bureau drawers with white enamel if you would have them always fresh and easy to keep clean.

Try beating carpets and rugs on a set of bed springs—they will look as if done by a professional.

To keep cheese moist, wrap it in a soft cloth wrung out of vinegar, and keep in an earthen jar with the cover slightly raised.

A small lump of camphor gum dropped into the drawer where silverware is kept will prevent tarnishing at the ends of silverware.

THE TABLE.

Pot Roast of Coarse Beef—Cut four pounds of coarse lean beef in one piece. Fry half a pound of fat salt pork in a rather shallow pot. Put in the beef and cook fast on both sides for five minutes. Cover with a chopped onion and a cupful of canned tomatoes, a sliced carrot and a sliced turnip. Now pour in enough hot water to come half way to the top of the meat; cover closely and simmer slowly for two hours, turning the vegetables with it through a colander. Put this back into the pot, thicken with browned flour, half an ounce, pour half over the meat and serve the rest in a gravy.

Corn Pudding—Two cups of popped corn, finely pounded; three cups of milk, three eggs slightly beaten, one-half cup of brown sugar, one tablespoonful of butter, three-quarters teaspoonful of salt. Scald the milk, pour over the corn and let stand for one hour. Add the remaining ingredients, turn into a buttered dish and bake in a slow oven until firm. Serve with cream or maple syrup.

Chicken Omelet—Beat four eggs very light, season with salt and pour into a greased frying pan. Have ready a cupful of minced chicken (heated) and a pint of hot white sauce in which a tablespoonful of minced parsley has been stirred. When the omelet is set and ready to be removed from the pan, sprinkle over it the minced chicken, fold it over and transfer to a hot platter. Pour the white sauce about the omelet.

Sweetbread and Cucumber Salad—Parboil a pair of sweetbreads twenty minutes; drain, cool and cut in one-half inch cubes. Mix with an equal quantity of cucumber cut in one-half inch dice. Season with salt and pepper and moisten with German dressing. Arrange in nests of lettuce leaves or in cucumber cups and garnish with watercress. To prepare cucumber cups, pare the cucumbers, remove thick slices from each end and cut in halves crosswise. Take out the centers, put cups in cold water and let stand until crisp; drain and dry for refilling. Small cucumbers may be pared, cut in halves lengthwise, centers removed, and cut pointed at the ends to represent a boat.

Creamed Celery—Clean, wash and boil some stalks of celery and when tender press through a vegetable ricer. Season well with melted butter, pepper and salt and moisten with a little hot cream. Line a deep dish with the toast, pour in the celery and top with slices of toast. Put a thin layer of cream sauce over all and brown for ten minutes in a hot oven.

Corn Pudding—Two cups of popped corn, finely pounded; three cups of milk, three eggs slightly beaten, one-half cup of brown sugar, one tablespoonful of butter, three-quarters teaspoonful of salt. Scald the milk, pour over the corn and let stand for one hour. Add the remaining ingredients, turn into a buttered dish and bake in a slow oven until firm. Serve with cream or maple syrup.

WHY DINING CAR CHEFS PREFER K.C. BAKING POWDER

Those who have had cakes ruined by jarring the stove, slamming the oven door or a heavy footstep, may have wondered how the dining car chef can turn out such marvelous biscuits, hot breads and pastry when his oven is being incessantly jarred and jolted and shaken by the motion of the train.

To get pastry to raise and stay raised under these conditions, a baking powder must be used that continues to give off its leavening gas—that sustains the raise—until the dough is baked through.

Dining Car Chefs have found a baking powder exactly suited to their needs in K. C. and you will find it just as well suited to your requirements. K. C. is really a blend of two baking powders, one active as soon as moistened, the other requiring both moisture and heat to start the generation of leavening gas. Nomatter how moist and rich you make your cake, K. C. Baking Powder will sustain the raise until a crust is formed and all danger of falling is past.

K. C. Baking Powder is pure and healthful. It is guaranteed under all pure food laws, and is guaranteed to please you. And it is sold at a reasonable price—no baking powder should sell for more.

Try a can at our risk and be convinced.

MEDAL COMPETITORS PREPARE FOR EVENT

Oratorical, Declamatory, Extempore and Poetry Contests to Be Staged Following Vacation.

The big annual medal contest held at the high school auditorium every spring will be staged sometime within the next two or three weeks. At that time the contestants will compete for the oratory, declamatory, extempore, and poetry medals, and the winners of the first two named will represent the school in the southern state contest later in the spring.

A shab has been stated before, the fight for the oratorical medal will be the largest undertaking that the high school professors have had to contend with in many years. As many as thirty will compete, making it necessary to hold several elimination contests. Allen Dearborn holds the medal from last year, and is in the race for honor in this season. Two medals will be given this year, one for original orations and the other for learned speeches. The Lovejoy medal, which Mr. Dearborn holds, will be given for the original production contest, to answer the purpose it was first intended for.

In the declamatory contest keen interest is taken, although few of the many desirous entering have registered their names.

Miss Evelyn, 1913 winner, will again compete, as will Elizabeth Correll, another of last year's competitors. Many of the younger girls in the lower classes plan to enter.

The extempore contest will be between the four class winners, as picked two weeks ago. They are Victor Hemming, holder of the 1913 medal, John Ferguson, Edward Atwood and Marilla Powers. The race will be close, with perhaps sixteen subjects with which the speakers will have to pick from.

The poetry contest will be closed shortly. All poems will be handed in and judged by competent men, and the winning poem will be read by its author on the night of the event and the medal presented. Miss Katherine Sheridan was winner last year.

EAST CENTER

East Center, April 9.—Election passed off very quietly. Joseph Bush was elected side supervisor, to fill William Seeman's place, who has moved to Janesville. All other officers were re-elected.

Fisher was in Milwaukee the latter part of last week and attended a meeting of the state board.

Mrs. S. L. Crall and daughters spent last Sunday at Frank Ashby's near Orfordville.

The Misses Mary, Alice and Nell Roberts are enjoying a week's vacation. Also the J. H. S. students.

Miss Cora Hines is home from her school work at Thorpe for a short vacation.

ORFORDVILLE

Orfordville, April 9.—H. N. Wagley transacted business in the River City on Wednesday. Anderson had charge of his business during the day.

T. A. Tolletson was a passenger to the county seat on Wednesday.

The Epworth League are planning to send their annual supply of refreshments to the hospital.

Edith Asmus and Willie Ludwig are suffering from the mumps and chicken pox this week.

Mr. Tolletson went to Janesville Wednesday morning where he expected to enter Mercy Hospital.

Mr. Tolletson has been in poor health for some time and will remain in the hospital for a while in the hope of receiving help.

J. B. Oliver of Brodhead has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late Richard Leng. The case came up for hearing at the county court on Tuesday.

Election passed off quietly in the village. The regular nomination ticket being elected by large majorities, but one or two of the candidates having any opposition in the town of Spring Valley. "Things" were not so quiet.

J. T. Buis was defeated for chairman by Frank Hoffman and George Wilcox for assessor by E. Castor.

Both Buis and Williams received the nomination at the caucus. In both the village and the township, Maxwell received almost a unanimous vote for municipal judge.

The "terror" letter was treated with indifference at both places.

Richmond, April 9.—The returns from the election are as follows: Supervisors—W. W. Calkins, chairman; Oliver Gibson, Charles Gage.

Every Home Needs This Great Remedy

No Home Can Afford to be Without a Reliable Laxative.

No well-regulated home should be without a laxative, for there is scarcely a day in a family of several persons that someone doesn't complain of a headache, of sleeplessness, or show the first signs of a cold.

A laxative then becomes a necessity or what was a trifling congestion at the beginning may run into a serious cold, or fever. No harsh remedy is needed, but simply a mild laxative tonic that will make the liver active and stir up the bowels.

People who have tried a great many things, and are themselves heads of families, who have seen the little tin of laxative tonic, will tell you that there is nothing better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can obtain at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, the latter being the family size.

Among the great believers in Syrup Pepsin for constipation in old or young and as a general household emergency remedy is Mrs. M. F. Smith, 110 N. Cherry St., San Antonio, Tex. To quote her own words, she says she will bless Dr. Caldwell for her drug store for she believes that through his remedy, Syrup Pepsin, she found the way to permanent good health.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is scientifically compounded and its purity is vouched for by mothers who give it to their babies, and grown people, taking a little larger amount, find it equally effective. It is mild and gentle, pleasant-tasting, and free from gripping.

It does not build behind a high sounding name, and is absolutely free from any prohibited ingredients. Families who once use Syrup Pepsin for ever after avoid cathartics, salts, pills and other harsh medicines, for these only do temporary good, are nauseous and a shock to any delicate system. Such things should never be given to children.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. J. C. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, N. Y. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

EFFICIENCY PROBE FOR MODERN SCHOOL

International Child Welfare Conference to Examine Into Thoroughness of Educational System.

"Are the fundamentals in education taught as thoroughly today as they were in the old-time school?"

"Are pupils developing the power of concentration today as fully as they did in the schools of our forefathers?"

"Are present-day schools preparing children for life as fully as did the schools of a quarter of a century ago?"

These three questions of the highest concern to every parent and teacher, not only in the United States but in the whole civilized world, are set for discussion and authoritative answer at the forthcoming Third International Congress on the Welfare of the Child, to be held under the auspices of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations in Washington, April 22-27.

Dr. O'Shea in Charge.

The particular discussion, of which the three questions form the subject, is to be led by Dr. M. V. O'Shea, professor of psychology in the University of Wisconsin, who is chairman of the national department of education of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations in Washington, April 22-27.

Dr. O'Shea is making careful preparation of this feature of the congress program. It is stated at the Washington headquarters, and is selecting as participants those whose opinions will have the weight of authority based upon wide study, observation, and experience. The discussion is thus assured of being one of the most valuable contributions of the present times toward a solution of the problems involved.

Following this symposium on present-day educational methods and tendencies, Dr. O'Shea is planning for a number, entitled "New times bring new problems in child training." This discussion, like the first, will attempt to throw light upon the following important questions:

Regarding Home Training.

"Can the individual home train its children effectively with regard to social, ethical, and moral problems in contemporary urban life."

"Is it feasible and desirable for communities to act as a unit in determining the conduct of the young in present-day life?"

"Will a school as a social center solve the problem of parents and teachers to focus attention on parents and teachers upon new problems that are the product of modern civilization?"

The tendency of parents to shift the responsibility for the entire training of children to the schools; community action as expressed in juvenile courts and otherwise; in determining youthful conduct; and the value of the modern use of schools for social center purposes are to be fully considered in this supplementary discussion.

A Week's Program.

The whole program, extending for a week, is rich in contributions to child welfare, and is expected to be the most important, international gathering ever held in Washington or in the United States.

Mrs. Frederick Schott, Philadelphia, an official of the United States Bureau of Education, is president of the National Congress under the auspices of which the Third International Congress on the Welfare of the Child is to be held. Its officers, councilors, and managers comprise many of the leading educators and philanthropists in the United States.

PATENTS TO INVENTORS.

Richard S. C. Caldwell, solicitor of patents, 314 Madison Building, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, formerly of Milwaukee, reports patents issued on April 7, 1914, to Wisconsin inventors, as follows:

Peter Christian, Green Bay, rotary pump; Edwin Crall, Eau Claire, washing machine; Frank L. Cross, Madison, gas regulator for mixing chambers; Edward J. Day, Milwaukee, line fastener; Walter J. Kohler, Sheboygan, drain connection; Carl E. L. Lipman, Beloit, air pump; Ira F. Manny, Milwaukee, rewinding mechanism; Reinhold G. Marquardt and O. H. Stuewe, Milwaukee, mattress springs; William F. Michler, Rhinelander, safety envelope; Harrison J. Mitchell, Beloit, end thrust bearing; Konstantine E. Neldner, Milwaukee, cheese; John H. Neller, Appleton, and E. T. Neller, Bakersfield, California, grease cup; Louis G. Nichols, Milwaukee, connector; Julius Riemschneider, Milwaukee, plant holder for plant setting machines; John Stippick, Milwaukee, kite; and Arthur Winding and F. W. Gezeltsch, Milwaukee, building material and making same.

Oliver Goldsmith Memorial.

Clement Shorter's proposal for the erection of a memorial to Oliver Goldsmith in London is likely to meet with success. The spot chosen is near the Temple church, where Goldsmith lies buried in an unknown grave. It was in the neighboring Brick court that he wrote "The Vicar of Wakefield," in a room that still exists. The memorial is to be a replica of the dramatist's statue at Trinity college, Dublin.

Sin—Against Whom?

By REV. J. H. RALSTON
Secretary of Correspondence Department
Methodist Episcopal Church, Chicago

Very much as to ultimate results depends on the answer to this question: Sin Against Self.

It is not very difficult to show a man that a certain kind of life will land him in poverty, shame, and consequent wretchedness. It is among those who thus fall that rescue missions have their field.

That which is referred to is often spoken of as sin against one's self, and said to be, much of the preaching of this day is the appeal to self, as far as sin is concerned, and the strength of this appeal is in the consequences of sin that are in this life and temporal. The words: "He that soweth to the flesh, shall of the flesh reap corruption," are frequently quoted and their truth is rarely questioned.

But even in this there is something forgotten, the consequences of such a life in the future world. The hell beyond this life is not alluded to frequently, except often in a sneering way as suggesting the hell on earth into which so many fall. There are many who work along religious lines, who appear to have very little in view, except the consequences of sin as seen in the present life. Many who are enthusiastic in the support of foreign missions are so simply because they wish to lift up the heathen who live in huts and caves of the earth into which they crawl as the wild beasts crawl into their dens, who are altogether unclothed, or slightly clothed, and subsist on foods that are not properly prepared to the comforts of sanitary homes, modern dress, and the delicacies of the modern dining table.

The Effect of Sin on Others.

The appeal here is not as strong as in the first case, but there are persons who have so much of the better man in them that they really regard the welfare of those who are about them. The husband has regard to his obligations to his children, and he provides for their comfort. The son recognizes that the father and mother have deepest love for him, and if he acts in a way that wounds that love he feels that he has sinned against them. This is all very worthy, and it is proper on certain occasions to call the attention of certain persons to their sinning in this regard.

Sin Against God.

There is another sphere that in these days needs notice. Harry Monroe, the man who in years long gone, knew the depths of sin, but who for thirty years at the Pacific Garden Mission in Chicago has been the means of leading hundreds of sinful men and women to God said to the writer of these words only a few days ago: "It is not hard to get men and women to raise their hands, and to stand up and go forward to the altar—but that is not enough, the trouble is, there is not enough conviction of sin," and he quoted the words of David: "Against thee, thee only have I sinned." One of the greatest difficulties that workers for God have to meet is to get men and women to get hold of the idea of God. A man's moral degradation may be acknowledged with very little thought of God. Even one's sins against others may be conceded with very little or no thought of God, and there are many men and women who are faithful to their dependents who do not know God. But in deeper thinking on sin practically everything is lost if God is left out. There is no proper apprehension of sin until God is brought into the foreground. The man readily says: "Yes, I have sinned against myself, and I have sinned against society," but when asked if he has sinned against God he is dazed, and is silent. If the man who acknowledges sin against himself and society would only think a little, he would ask the question: "Who established the law that enforced these results?" he will soon come to the place where he must acknowledge God, and if he does so, the solution of the problem of his sin is at hand.

David was near that solution when he said: "I acknowledge my transgressions, and my sin is ever before me. Against thee, thee only have I sinned, and done this evil in thy sight." Job was near it when he said: "Behold, I am vile; what shall I answer thee? I will lay my hand upon my mouth."

This is properly called conviction of sin. It is not produced by trial in a court of justice, nor is it the result of carrying an abstract proposition to its logical conclusion, but to a sense of personal wrong doing in the sight of God. A great evangelical teacher of the last century said that conviction of sin involves a sense of wrong doing, distress in view of the past and an apprehension in view of what is to come. How much of the conviction of the present day contains these elements?

Woman of Experience.

He—"If I am detained down town late tonight, don't wait up for me."
She—"I shan't, I shall come down for you!"—Judge.

Pleasant Fields of Holy Writ

Save for my daily range. Among the pleasant fields of Holy Writ I might despair.

—Tennyson
The International Sunday School Lesson.

Motto for this week: "Of the Scriptures must be said, 'Verily of virtues, all are worthy.'—John Arrowsmith, 1659 A. D."

Second quarter. Lesson 11. Luke 24:13-35. April 12, 1914.

THE JOURNEY TO EMMANUEL.

(The Story.)

The angels, which stood upon the Arct of the eastward were represented as looking down upon the road which was the "Mercy Seat," and through it to the story tables of the law, which were kept within. It is a paraphrase in gold of the text. Which things the angels desire to look into. They were what the disciples on the way to Emmaus were doing. They were musing on the great event which had just happened, and which more than anything else, showed the mercy and justice of God. "The body of the Lord," it is among those who thus fall that rescue missions have their field.

Humanness attached to his words as well as to his looks. He uttered Mary's name with a faithful account. He appointed free and easy Galilee as the place of rendezvous. Even the salutation "All hail!" which in our version seems so majestic, is really just the common and happy greeting of friends. So Jesus' approach on this occasion was so unostentatious that he was already walking with them before they even saw him. This may also indicate their absorption in the topic of their conversation. There is nothing untoward in Jesus withholding his identity for the while. It gave him opportunity for quiet instruction, which would have been lost in the transport of an immediate recognition. There is a touch of naturalness in the case of the traveler as he bent on going farther; the ease with which he consents to hospitality so urgent. By a precedence so natural as not to be noted, guest becomes host. He takes back of the table on the way he probably took place of honor between the disciples. No more natural or appropriate finale to this significant and lovely scene could be imagined than the hearty return of the disciples to Jerusalem and their glowing recital of the incident to the college of the apostles.

THE TEACHERS LANTERN.

This scene is a parable of the nature, use, and advantage of religious conversation. Jesus appears in this incident as the ideal Sunday-school teacher. He did not deluge his class with a flood of "persons, places, precepts, and doctrines," drained from lesson notes and commentaries, and put up for a week for the purpose. His method was inductive. He found what the scholars felt in their hearts, and feeling, he induced them to express themselves. Then he reconciled their natural feelings and ideas with Scripture. Jesus was discovered in the "breaking of bread." It may be the "breaking of bread" which he had used, the use of which betrayed his identity. The increasing "Bohemian life" (catechism) is inimical to the old style of "grace at meals." The more is the pillar of its own, running current with the evolution of social life. The idea of the suffering Messiah was in germ in the Old Testament. At length it flowered in fact, was apprehended and accepted. The appearances of Jesus were not matters of caprice. They were so timed and made to such persons as to be particularly significant. The sympathetic nature of Jesus' first address is to be noted. It is not the quest of cold curiosity. He does not merely say, "I'll converse with you by your leave." He notes their sadness, as if he said: "I take part in your sorrow, and probably can comfort you." The moral boldness of these disciples is worthy of note. They out with the odious and danger involving name of the Nazarene at once, and that to a stranger. The Bible so elevated as this, Jesus makes its superlative dignity and value apparent. He will not have the faith of these disciples stand in the testimony of these women, or angels, nor even in their personal identification of himself, but solely and essentially upon the self-consistent, harmonious, and convincing Word. Experiences like this of the disciples on the way to Emmaus are the mold in which new words are coined. Out of this falls the entirely new and expressive phrase, "the burning heart." A moment before the disciples were remarking the need of shelter on the fast-approaching night. Jesus is gone, but not the joy of their discovery of him. They hurry not to eat the bread he had blessed, but go flying in face of night with their glad tidings.

ANALYSIS AND KEY.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEVOTIONAL SERVICE.
April 12, 1914. 1 Corinthians 15:35-58.

A LONG LOOK AHEAD: (EASTER MEETING.)

The new body, with which God will clothe the spirit, will be one suited to the sphere in which it is to move. As the body of the bird is adapted to air, the fish to water, the quadruped to terra firma, so shall the new body be adapted to its new sphere. The requisites are that it shall be spiritual, incorruptible, powerful, and glorious. So shall it be!

Overlooked.

A bridegroom is a person who spends a lot of money buying himself a wedding suit that nobody notices.

SKIN TORTURES WILL YIELD TO RESINOL

If you have eczema, ringworm, or other itching, burning, or irritating skin eruptions, try Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and see how quickly the itching stops and the trouble disappears, even in severe, stubborn cases. Resinol Ointment is also an excellent household remedy for pimples, dandruff, sores, burns, wounds, boils, and for a score of other uses where a soothing, healing application is needed.

Sold by all druggists, or for trial, write to Dept. B, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

Plate Hangers.

In hanging old china plates for decorative purposes use three large white dress hooks, placed at equal distances apart on the edge of the plate. The hanging wire or cord is run through them from the back side and drawn up tightly. These hooks are much better than the ordinary plate hanger, as they are small and will not show much on the plate.

Pleasant for Wamma.

"And what did my little darling do in school today?" a mother asked of her youngest son—a second grader. "We had nature study, and it was my turn to bring a specimen," said the boy. "That was nice. What did you do?" "I brought a cockroach in a bottle and I told teacher we had lots more and if she wanted I would bring one every day."

Don't Feel Right? Headachy, Bilious, Constipated, Stomach Bad?—DIME A BOX

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy stomach.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely dosing yourself every few days with salts, pills, castor oil and other harsh irritants? Cascarets immediately cleanse and sweeten the stomach, remove the our undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning—a 10-cent box keeps your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and you feel bully for months. Don't forget the child.

'Gets-It' for Corns On Your Piggy-Wiggies!

Quit Puttering With Corns. Use This Sure, New-Plan Corn Cure.

A few drops of "GETS-IT," the biggest relief in the world today of any corn remedy, is enough to swell most corns to the largest corn that ever came out itself.

to a toe. It's good-bye corns. You apply "GETS-IT" in two seconds—no fussing with plaster that don't stay put, and make the toe beefy and raw, with knives, scissors, razors and diggers that make corns grow faster and that may cause blood poison from corn-cutting and corn bleeding. "GETS-IT" shrivels up corns, they come right off. That's the new principle. It's just common sense. No more corn-pains. "GETS-IT" is safe and never hurts the flesh. Get rid of corns and calluses. "GETS-IT" is sold at 25c a bottle by all druggists, or sent direct if you wish, from E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

COLDS

HOW TO KEEP ACTIVE

When Old Age Overtakes Us.

Mrs. John Widmayer of Jackson, Mich., says: "Although 69 years of age, and naturally, because of my advanced age, in an enfeebled condition. I can truthfully say that Vinol has done wonders to keep me as active as I am. It is the best medicine to create strength that I ever saw. This spring I was very much run down and worn out but I took Vinol and soon felt stronger and able to work about the house. I can recommend Vinol as a very invigorating tonic."

Should the system get run down—digestive organs weak—the blood thin and sluggish—take Vinol, which is a delicious combination of the medicinal—body-building properties of cods' livers, with the useless grease eliminated and tonic from added. We regard Vinol as one of the greatest body-builders and strength creators in the world for aged people.

We wish every feeble old person in this vicinity would try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction. Smith Drug Co., Druggists, Jamesville, Wis. P. S. If you have any skin trouble try Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.

Check the Symptoms of Lung Trouble.

One of the many reasons why Lung Trouble is so difficult to fight is because the disease is often of a very insidious nature. The patient may look well, but is fast losing strength. Continued night sweats, fever and cough. These symptoms should be checked as quickly as possible. Eckman's Alternative is beneficial in checking fever and night sweats and it has brought about many complete recoveries. Read this case:

800 W. 30th St., New York.

"Gentlemen: I am writing you this testimonial that others may know what your Alternative has done for me. Since I was a very young woman I was a sufferer from Bronchitis. I tried doctor after doctor, getting little or no benefit. Finally I had night sweats, weak spells and lost rapidly in weight and my doctor told me if I were not checked I would have Lung Trouble. Miss Mary Korhammer, who is a friend of mine, recovered after taking your Alternative and insisted that I try it. I am now, after two years, perfectly well, strong and healthy."

(Adapted). MRS. ROSA VOELPEL. (Above abbreviated; more on request.) Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Rheumatic Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in unbinding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet, telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman's Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. For sale by all leading druggists and Smith Drug Co., McCue and Buss, Peoples' Drug Co., in Jamesville.

You can sell your house or turn iture through a want ad.

CHAPTER XVII.

John Vallant Asks a Question.

Vallant went with them to the outer door. A painful thought was flooding his mind. It hampered his speech and it was only by a violent effort that he found voice:

"One moment! There is a question I would like to ask."

Both gentlemen had turned upon the steps and as they faced him he thought a swift glance passed between them. They waited courteously, the doctor with his habitual frown, the major's hand fumbling for the black ribbon on his waistcoat.

"Since I came here, I have heard"—his tone was uneven—"of a duel in which my father was a principal. There was such a meeting?"

"There was," said the doctor after the slightest pause of surprise. "Had you known nothing of it?"

"Absolutely nothing."

The major cleared his throat. "It was something he might naturally not have made a record of," he said. "The two had been friends, and it—it was a fatal encounter for the other. The doctor and I were your father's seconds."

There was a moment's silence before Vallant spoke again. When he did his voice was steady, though drops had sprung to his forehead. "Was there any circumstance in that meeting that might be construed as reflecting on his honor?"

"Good God, no!" said the major explosively.

"On his bearing as a gentleman?"

There was a hiatus this time in which he could hear his heart beat. In that single exclamation the major seemed to have exhausted his vocabulary. He was looking at the ground.

It was the doctor who spoke at last, in a silence that to the man in the doorway weighed like a hundred atmospheres.

"No," he said bluntly. "Certainly not. What put that into your head?"

When he was alone in the library Vallant opened the glass door and took from the shelf the morocco case. The old shiver of repugnance ran over him at the very touch of the leather. In the farthest corner was a low commode. He set the case on this and moved the big tapestry screen across the angle, hiding it from view.

In the great hall at Damory Court the candles in their brass sconces blinkey back from the polished parquetry and the shining fire-dogs, filling the rather solemn gloom with an air of warmth and creature-comfort. Leaning against the newel-post, Vallant gazed about him. How different it all looked from the night of his coming!

He began to walk up and down the floor, teasing pricks of restlessness urging him. He opened the door and passed into the unlighted dining-room. On the sideboard set a silver loving-cup that had arrived the day before in a huge box with his books and knick-knacks. He had won it at polo.

He lifted it, fingering its carved handles. He remembered that when that particular score had been made, Katharine Fargo had sat in one of the drags at the side-line.

But the memory evoked no thrill. Instead, the thought of her pale, cold, passionless beauty called up another mobile thoroughbred face instinct with quick flashings of mirth and hauteur.

Again he felt the fierce clutch of small fingers, as they fought with his in that struggle for his life. Each line of that face stood before him—the arching brows, the cameo-delicacy of profile, the magnolia skin and hair like a brown-gold cloud across the sun.

He stepped down to the gravelled drive and followed it to the gate, then, bareheaded, took the Red Road. Along this highway he had rattled in Uncle Jefferson's crazy hack—with her red rose in his hand. The musky scent of the pressed leaves in the book in his pocket seemed to be all about him.

The odor of living roses, in fact, was in the air. It came on the scarce-felt breeze, a heavy calling perfume. He walked on, keeping the road by the misty infiltrating shimmer of the stars, with a sensation rather of gliding than of walking. It occurred to him that if, as scientists say, colors emit sound-tones, accents also should possess a music of their own: the honeysuckle fragrance, maybe—soft mellow fluting as of diminutive wind-instruments; the far-faint sickly odor of lilacs—the upper register of fairy violins; this spicy breath of roses—blending, throbbing chords like eld echoes of an Italian harp. The fancy pleased him; he could imagine the perfume now in the air carried with it an under-music, like a ghostly harping.

It came to him at the same instant that this was no mere fancy. Somewhere in the languorous night a harp was being played. He paused and listened intently, then went on toward the sound. The rose scent had grown stronger; it was almost in that heavy air, as if he were breathing an ethereal sea of attar. He felt as if he were treading on a path of rose-leaves, down which the increasing melody flowed crimson to him, calling, calling.

He stopped stock-still. He had been skirting a close-cropped hedge of box. This had ended abruptly and he was looking straight up a bar of green-yellow radiance from a double doorway.

What he had drawn from the shelf was the morocco case that held the Rustled Dueling-Pistol!

The latter opened on a porch and the light, flung across this, drenched an arbor of climbing roses, making it stand out a mass of woven rubies set in emerald.

He drew a long sigh of more than delight, for framed in the doorway he saw a figure in misty white, leaning to the gilded upright of a harp. He knew at once that it was Shirley. Holding his breath, he came closer, his feet muffled in the thick grass. He stood in the dense obscurity, one hand gripping the gnarled limb of a catalpa, his eyes following the shapely arms from wrist to shoulder, the fingers straying across the strings, the bending cheek caressing the carved wood. She was playing the melody of Sheller's "Indian Serenade"—touching the chords softly and tenderly—and his lips moved, molding themselves soundlessly to the words.

The serenade died in a single long note. As if in answer to it there rose a flood of bird-music from beyond the arbor—jets of song that swelled and rippled to a soaring melody. She heard it, too, for the gracie fingers fell from the strings. She listened a moment, with head held to one side, then sprang up and came through the door and down the steps.

He hesitated a moment, then a single stride took him from the shadow.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Beyond the Box-Hedge.

As he greeted her, his gaze plunged deep into hers. She had recoiled a step, startled, to recognize him almost instantly. He noted the shrinking and thought it due to a stabbing memory of that forest-horror. His first words were prosaic enough:

"I'm an unconscionable trespasser," he said. "It must seem awfully prosy, but I didn't realize I was on private property till I passed the hedge there."

As her hand lay in his, a strange fancy stirred in him: in that wood-meeting she had seemed something witch-like, the wilful spirit of the passionate spring herself, mixed of her aerial essences and jungle wilder-peases; in this scented dim-lit close she was grave-eyed, subdued, a paler pensive woman of under half-guessed sadnesses and haunting moods. With her answer, however, this gravity seemed to slip from her like a garment. She laughed lightly.

"I love to prove myself. I think sometimes I like the night better than the day. I believe in one of my incarnations I must have been a panther."

They both laughed. "I'm growing superstitious about flowers," he said. "You know a rose figured in our first meeting. And in our last—"

She shrank momentarily. "The cape jessamines! I shall always think of that when I see them!"

"Ah, forgive me!" he begged. "But when I remember what you did—for me! Oh, I know! But for you, I must have died."

"But for me you wouldn't have been bitten! But don't let's talk of it." She shivered suddenly.

"You are cold," he said. "Isn't that gown too thin for this night air?"

"No, I often walk here till quite late. Listen!"

The bird-song had broken forth again, to be answered this time by a lull in a distant thicket. "My nightingale is in good voice."

"I never heard a nightingale before I came to Virginia. I wonder why it sings only at night."

"What an odd idea! Why, it sings in the daytime, too."

"Really? But I suppose it escapes notice in the general chorus. Is it a large bird?"

"No, smaller than a thrush. Only a little bigger than a robin. Its nest is over there in that hedge—a tiny loose cup of dried oak-leaves, lined with hair, and the eggs are olive color. How pretty the hedge looks now, all tangled with fiery sparks!"

"Doesn't it? Uncle Jefferson calls them 'lightning-bugs.'"

"The name is much more picturesque. But all the dark sayings are. Do you find him and Aunt Daphne useful?"

"He has been a godsend," he said fervently; "and her cooking has taught me to treat her with passionate respect. He's teaching me now about flowers—it's surprising how many kinds he knows. He's a walking herbarium."

"Come and see mine," she said. "Roses are our specialty—we have to live up to the Rosewood name. But beyond the arbors are beds and beds of other flowers. See—by this big tree are speed-well and delphinium. The tree is a black-walnut. It's a dreadful thing to have one as big as that. When you want something that costs a lot of money you go and look at it and wonder which you want most; that particular luxuriance or the tree. I know a girl who had two in her yard only a little bigger than this, and she went to Europe on them. But so far I've always voted for the tree. How does your garden come on?"

"Famously. Uncle Jefferson has shanghaied a half-dozen negro gardeners—from where I can't imagine—and he's having the time of his life hectoring over them. He refers to the upper and lower terraces as 'up-and-down-stairs.' I've got seeds, but it will be a long time before they flower."

"Oh, would you like some slips?" she cried. "Or, better still, I can give you the roses already rooted—Mad Charles and Marechal Neil and Cloth of Gold and cabbage and rambles. We have geraniums and fuchsias, too, and the coral honey-suckle. That's different from the wild one, you know."

"You are too good! If you would only advise me where to set them."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Dinner Stories

A small boy, who was sitting next to a very haughty lady in a crowded omnibus, kept on sniffing in a most annoying manner. At last the lady could stand it no longer, and turned to the lad. "Boy, have you got a handkerchief?" she demanded. The boy, kept on sniffing in a most annoying manner. At last the lady could stand it no longer, and turned to the lad. "Boy, have you got a handkerchief?" she demanded. The small boy looked at her for a few seconds, and then, in a dignified way, came the answer: "Yes, I have, but I don't lend it to strangers."

From the following story it would seem that the cadets at West Point are not the only persons who sometimes find taps and the sunrise gun annoying.

The wife of one of the officers there had a colored maid who was giving satisfaction and was, apparently well pleased with her position. Mrs. Brown was, therefore, amazed when Saline came to her and told her she could not work there any longer.

"Will you tell me why you are leaving, Saline," her mistress asked. "Miss Lizzie," she answered, "Ah likes you an' Ah likes de kitchen an' Ah likes de children. But Ah can't stay nowhar. Ah has to be drummed to bed at night, and shot out of bed in de mawnin'."

Evidently Knew His Townsmen. A somewhat personal reference was that of an old Lanarkshire minister who read out for his text the verse in the psalms, "I said in my haste, 'all men are liars;'" and then proceeded to give his sermon in the form of an apostrophe, thus: "Ay, David, ye said it in your haste, did ye? If ye had lived in this parish, ye might have said it at your leisure."

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

The secret of keeping young—is to feel young—to do this, you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberant spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, a toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio. All druggists.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots, How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength from Badger Drug Co., and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine as this is the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

WISCONSIN WOMAN VICTIM OF STOMACH ILLS QUICKLY RESTORED

Mrs. Herbert Haire Gains Every Day After Taking Mayr's Wonderful Remedy.

Mrs. Herbert Haire of Shawano, Wis., was a victim of stomach and digestive ailments. She tried many remedies and sought relief in many ways.

At last she decided to try Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. The swift results astonished her. She wrote:

"I am gaining every day since taking your stomach remedy and tonic. Shall continue to take it until I am sure I am in permanent good health. Enclosed find an order for a dozen and a half bottles for my suffering friends, for I know it will cure them."

Letters like that come from all parts of the country. Thousands have taken this remedy with remarkable results. The first dose proves.

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and removes poisonous matter from stomach, liver and bowel troubles. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations and many are sure it has saved their lives.

Because of the remarkable success of this remedy there are many imitations, so be cautious. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Go to J. P. Baker & Son's drug store and ask about the wonderful results it has been accomplishing in cases they know—or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its wonderful effects.
